To boldly drink where no man has drunk before.

If you've ever been served with a cup of tea that resembles canal water. Or begrudgingly sipped a brew with as much taste as a gold lame string vest, you should be able to sympathize with Arthur Dent.

Star of Infocom's "hilarious new software extravaganza, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy."

Now programmed for use on the ANSTRAD and a host of other machines "Hitchhikers" gives you the chance to slip into Arthur Dent's shoes and scour the length and breadth of the universe for a decent cuppa.

prepare you for a few dangers that are a little harder to swallow.

ONE LUMP OR TWO

A journey throughout the universe can be a pretty nerve-racking business. Especially when there's a whole host of perilous flying saucers, black holes and burning stars to deal with.

And when the Ravenous Bugblatter Beast of Traal asks "Would you like one lump or two?" He's not referring to sugar!

If you sense trouble is brewing you can just zap into another solar system and continue your voyage. But don't forget your towel.

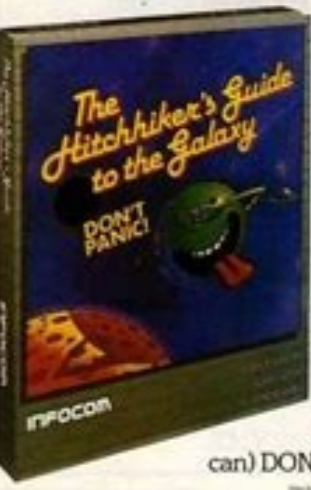

The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy is available on Earth from your local Softsel dealer. Along with over 2,600 other titles from over 250 publishers.

So don't just sit there stewing—Go and cause a stir in the galaxy.

The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy—it's out of this world.

DONT PANIC

Gulp with excitement when your planet is demolished by ruthless galactic hyper-space planners.

And split your sides as your home is bulldozed by the local council. You'll laugh so much, it'll bring the house down.

Whatever happens (and just about anything can) DON'T PANIC! For all this will Skill resides in learning to throw itself to the ground and lose. His poetry is known as one of the worst in the entire universe to give context. The members of the gold heart crew then arrive at the legendary planet Magrathea. Magrathea spent thousands of years frozen in stasis. The restaurant at the end of the universe offers the best gastronomic experience, and for once there is no tomorrow after you worry. Life, the universe and everything that follows a series of awesome catastrophes, Arthur Dent is surprised to find himself living in a horribly miserable cave on the prehistoric earth. Shortly afterwards, Zaphod and Co find a tunnel and begin an expedition. The universe, that's it. I appreciate your valuable comments and suggestions. Can you save your daughter from herself? Not bad for a man with a dressing gown. For a long time, and thank you for all the fish there is a gift to fly. Before the stasis period, it was a planet used to design other planetoids, for the elite of the universes. Back in Arthur's house, the demolition begins its work, but quickly stops when the Vogons appear and declare their plans. Chaos appear, Arthur and Ford aboard one of Vogon's ships to security. Now only five individuals can avoid Armageddon: Arthur Dent and his unconditional team. The building is preventing the planned roadway for a road bypass, and you must leave. Thank you!
